Dear Mr. Phillips:

Your application for aid for an exploration project relating to the subject property has been reviewed.

Projects approved by the Defense Minerals Exploration Administration must, in its judgment, show definite promise of yielding materials of acceptable grade in quantities that will significantly improve the mineral supply position for the National Defense Program.

Careful study of all our information indicates to us that the probability of disclosing significant reserves of strategic materials by your proposed program is not sufficiently promising to justify Government participation. We regret to advise you, under these circumstances, that your application for exploration assistance is denied.

We wish to thank you for your interest in the Defense Minerals Program and for bringing your property to our attention.

Sincerely yours,

Memorandum April 16, 1957

From: L. G. Houk, Chief, Nonmetallic Minerals Division LGH

Subject: Evaluation of application and field examination report
Docket No. DMEA-4662-Mica
Sam L. Phillips
Mead Prospect
Cleveland County, North Carolina

Denial of application is recommended.

Mica: Muscovite observed in thin books 2 x 2 to 2 x 4 inches across. Predominantly reddish brown in color, although some bright green color zoning was noted on the inside of a few books and parallel to the pseudo-hexagonal crystal outline. Minor amount of cracking, ruling, tied or locky books, and fine biotite intergrowth.

Pegmatite: Consists of a fine- to medium-grained mixture of kaolinized sodic plagioclase, disseminated quartz, perthite, and muscovite in order of abundance. Pegmatite of about 4 feet indicated. Thins abruptly to the northeast and to the southwest. Discordantly emplaced along a small fracture in sillimanitic schist extensively injected with fairly regularly spaced lenses of sodic plagioclase and disseminated quartz none of which more than 6 inches long or more than 1½ inches in diameter. Several thin apophyses of pegmatite taper outward concordantly from margins of discordant body.

Workings: Small discordant lenticular pegmatite (fracture emplacement), has been exposed in a shallow bulldozer trench. Indicated strike length of not more than 15 feet and a thickness of not more than 4 feet.

Past production: No recovery of muscovite has been made at this site, according to the applicant.

Applicant's proposal: Construct Powder and Exploder

Magazines and Toolhouse	$140.00
Sink 60' shaft @ $50/ft.	3,000.00
Drift 100' @ $35/ft.	3,500.00
Total	$6,640.00

Recommendations: Because of the absence of any sizable amount of pegmatite material and the lack of a sizable target, the Field Team recommends denial. The Nonmetallic Minerals Division concurs in the Field Team's recommendation as do the Commodity Members of the Bureau of Mines and the Geological Survey.

Field Team Recommendation: Recommend that application be denied.

Comments:

1. This is a new prospect on which applicant has exposed a 4-foot thick pegmatite for a strike distance of 15 feet.

2. The pegmatite thins at both ends and appears to be a small lenticular body.

3. Unless applicant can show a larger target area, DMEA assistance does not appear to be warranted.

Memorandum

To: ~~L. G. Houk, Defense~~ Minerals Exploration Administration

From: N. E. Nelson, U. S. Geological Survey

Subject: Review of Field Team Report.

The applicant requested assistance in exploring a 'new' 4-foot pegmatite. No mention of mica was made.

The examiners found a lenticular discordant pegmatite exposed obliquely across a bulldozer trench for a strike length of about 15 feet. Reddish brown muscovite was observed in thin books 2 x 2 to 2 x 4 inches across.

In the opinion of the examiners the size of the pegmatite and the lack of a sizable exploration target justify their recommendation that the application be denied.

I concur with the recommendation.

FIELD EXAMINATION REPORT

On

DMEA-4662 (mica), MEAD PROSPECT
Cleveland County, North Carolina

Applicant: Sam L. Phillips, Spruce Pine, North Carolina

SUMMARY

A small discordant lenticular pegmatite (fracture emplacement), has been exposed in a shallow bulldozer trench. It has ~~an indicated strike~~ length of not more than 15 feet and a thickness of not more than 4 feet. Although moderately rich in muscovite, the lack of size indicated, leads the examiners to recommend that the application be denied.

INTRODUCTION

Location

The prospect is located 2.8 airline miles N 86° E. of Casar, Cleveland County, North Carolina. It is immediately north of a good unpaved country road on gently rolling crop and timber land. The prospect can be located on the Charlotte, N. C.- S. C., AMS series map V-501, 1:250,000 (1953), at approximately 35° 30.9' N-81° 34.1' W.

Examination

This prospect was examined on March 22, 1957 over a period of about one hour. The examiners were accompanied by the applicant Mr. Sam Phillips. This appears to be a completely new occurrence which the applicant has exposed by a N. 72° E.-trending trench, 35 feet long, 7 feet wide and up to 4 feet deep (see map). The site is bounded by a field on the northwest and a woodlot on the southeast. No equipment, supplies, or other improvements are presently at the site.

GEOLOGY

Pegmatite is exposed obliquely across the mid-section of the bulldozer trench for a strike length distance of about 15 feet. The contacts merge somewhat with the saprolite, but a thickness of about 4 feet is indicated. The structure thins abruptly to the northeast and to the southwest and for all practical purposes is contained within the limits of the trench. The pegmatite strikes roughly N. 35° E. to N. 65° E. and dips essentially vertical. It is discordantly emplaced along what appears to be a small fracture in a sillimanitic schist which has been extensively injected with pegmatite material consisting of small discrete and fairly regularly spaced lenses and balls of sodic plagioclase and disseminated quartz, none of which is much more than 6 inches long or more than 1½ inches in diameter. Several thin apophyses of pegmatite taper outward concordantly along the schistosity from the margins of the discordant body. The sillimanite schist strikes N. 53° W. to N. 65° W. and dips 65° to 90° southwest.

The pegmatite consists of a fine- to medium-grained mixture of kaolinized sodic plagioclase, disseminated quartz, perthite, and muscovite in order of abundance. Muscovite was observed in thin books 2 x 2 to 2 x 4 inches across. It is predominantly reddish brown in color although some bright green color zoning was noted on the inside of a few books and parallel to the pseudo-hexagonal crystal outline. Defects noted were a minor amount of cracking, ruling, tied or locky books, and fine biotite intergrowth. No recovery of muscovite has been made at this site, according to the applicant.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The absence of any sizable amount of pegmatite material and the lack of a sizable exploration target is reason enough for the examiners to recommend that this application be denied.
