

Figure 30. A tripod tangled with lobster gear recovered from site LT-A in February 1993 (mooring 407). This recovery in followed the intense December 1992 storm; it is hypothesized that drifting gear became entangled on the tripod. Entanglements with fishing gear were very rare. Photograph by Bradford Butman, U.S. Geological Survey.