

Figure 22. A MicroCAT mounted on the top of a 41-inch steel float. This mounting was used at site LT-A to measure temperature and salinity within about 5 meters of the sea surface. The inset shows a close-up of the MicroCAT installed in a protective bracket. Photograph by Dann Blackwood, U.S. Geological Survey.