

Figure 28A. A Vector-Measuring Current Meter (VMCM) deployed on mooring 348 at about 22 meters (10 meters above bottom) from July to October 1990. The blue and white color is antifouling paint. Note the growth on the unpainted lower end cap of the instrument housing, and slight growth on the rotor hub. Photograph by Bradford Butman, U.S. Geological Survey