MALTA

THE MINERAL INDUSTRY OF MALTA

By Sinan Hastorun and Jaewon Chung

In 2017 and 2018, the production of mineral commodities—notably limestone and salt—represented only a minor part of the economy of Malta (Central Bank of Malta, 2019, p. 50–53). The legislative framework for the mineral sector in Malta is provided by the Malta Resources Act of 2001 and the Regulator for Energy and Water Services Act of 2015. Data on mineral production are in table 1. Table 2 is a list of major mineral industry facilities. More-extensive coverage of the mineral industry of Malta can be found in previous editions of the U.S. Geological Survey Minerals Yearbook, volume III, Area Reports—International—Europe and Central Eurasia, which are available at <https://www.usgs.gov/centers/nmic/europe-and-central-eurasia>.

¹Table includes data available through July 2, 2019. All data are reported unless otherwise noted. Estimated data are rounded to no more than three significant digits.

²In addition to the commodities listed, cement, fertilizer, and plaster may have been produced, but available information was inadequate to make reliable estimates of output.

MALTA: STRUCTURE OF THE MINERAL INDUSTRY IN 2018

(Metric tons)

Commodity	Major operating companies and major equity owners	Location of main facilities	Annual capacity ^c
Limestone	Various small, locally owned companies	53 quarries located on the islands of Malta and Gozo	1,900,000
Salt	Artisanal miners	40 salt pans located on the islands of Malta and Gozo	4,000

^cEstimated; estimated data are rounded to no more than three significant digits.
