

Figure 17

Schematic representation of various trends in alkali and calcalkali feldspar unmixing showing how myrmekite might be produced in the presence of an excess silica reservoir. Unmixing is represented as running to completion in order to realize the maximum amounts of myrmekitic quartz obtainable under this scheme.