

162°
69°+

156°
+ 69°

68°+
162°

FIGURE 8.--Geochemical indication of the potential for zinc-rich, deposits in the southern part of the National Petroleum Reserve, Alaska. The potential is defined by zinc-rich stream sediment in areas also rich in barium. These elements are usually accompanied by silver in either stream sediment or heavy-mineral concentrates.

This report is preliminary and has not been edited or reviewed for conformity with Geological Survey standards and nomenclature.

+ 68°
156°