"The Pulpit," Badlands National Park, South Dakota. Apparently named for its resemblance to a ministerial pulpit, "The Pulpit" is an example of the complex features characteristic of South Dakota Badlands. In South Dakota, the term "badlands" is generally used to describe rough, broken country, devoid of vegetation and unsuited for farming, that is often spectacularly carved by water and wind into unusual landforms. On older maps of the area, badlands are indicated by the French name "Mauvaises Terres," which had the implied meaning of "bad-for-traveling lands." (Photograph by H.H. Darton, 1898, U.S. Geological Survey.)

FOREWORD

"The National Gazetteer of the United States of America" is a cooperative effort between the U.S. Geological Survey and the U.S. Board on Geographic Names. The two organizations have a long history of cooperation in establishing uniform usage of geographic names on Federal maps, charts, and other publications. This cooperation, which has been a blending of technical talent and field-gathered information, has been beneficial to the missions and programs of both organizations. The Board on Geographic Names (BGN) is responsible for establishing official names for use throughout the Federal Government. The U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) is responsible for the preparation and maintenance of the series of base maps of the Nation's lands and waters and for the publication of reports detailing the results of investigations of the Nation's mineral, energy, land, and water resources. In addition to being a principal user of the official names determined by the BGN, the USGS, because of extensive field operations, has collected much of the information necessary for making the decisions establishing those names.

The basis for the cooperation between the USGS and the BGN is the recognition that the use of standard geographic names is necessary for communication of geographic information. Geographic names are an essential part of our language and form a primary reference system that affects people every day of their lives. Geographic names have strong psychological significance because the names are associated with the processes of thought that give people the ability to understand the world around them. The names are used to identify cultural and administrative areas, to define political boundaries, and to determine property, mineral, and water rights.

"The National Gazetteer of the United States of America" is the result of a long-term effort to provide a standard reference to the Nation's named places, features, and areas. As early as 1892, with the support of the newly organized Board on Geographic Names and as part of the National Mapping Program, the USGS began cataloging geographic names and producing a series of State gazetteers to assist in finding geographic features on atlas sheets produced by the USGS. Compilation was initially done by Henry Gannett, Chief Geographer, under the direction of John Wesley Powell, second Director of the Survey. Gannett was chairman of the BGN from 1894 until his death in 1914. Gazetteers for 12 States, Puerto Rico, the Territory of Alaska, and the Indian Territory (Oklahoma) were published between 1894 and 1906. However, large-scale topographic mapping, from which the name information for the gazetteers was derived, was a slow process, and inadequate map coverage led to the suspension of the program.

The USGS again began the systematic collection of geographic name information in 1976 when published, large-scale topographic maps were available for more than 70 percent of the country. This information is a major part of the computerized National Geographic Names Data Base. This volume of the USGS Professional Paper series "The National Gazetteer of the United States of America" is derived from that data base.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The geographic names information in the South Dakota volume of the National Gazetteer was compiled by the geographic names staff at the U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Va., and by students at South Dakota State University. The National Gazetteer program is directed by Donald J. Orth and Roger L. Payne. Robin Worcester provided necessary coordination for the final production of this volume of the gazetteer. Recognition is also given to Judy J. Stella and Louis A. Yost IV, who developed the specific procedures and software necessary to format the final copy, and to Jon C. Campbell, who provided the historical background research.

THE NATIONAL GAZETTEER OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA SOUTH DAKOTA 1989

INTRODUCTION

By Donald J. Orth

This gazetteer lists 14,107 geographic names in alphabetical order for places, features, and areas within the State of South Dakota. Prepared in cooperation with the U.S. Board on Geographic Names (BGN), the gazetteer is one volume of a series of State, territory, and other special listings of geographic names published as U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper 1200 and collectively titled "The National Gazetteer of the United States of America." The purpose of this gazetteer series is to provide a national standard reference for geographic names that may have cartographic, historic, linguistic, and data-systems applications. Each volume of the National Gazetteer is identified by geographic area and year and will be revised periodically; the year of compilation is given as part of the volume's title. Some named feature types, such as roads and highways, commercial establishments, certain public and private recreational facilities, and current military installations, are omitted from this gazetteer. Other than these categories, every attempt has been made to be as complete as possible in compiling entries for this volume. The information in the National Gazetteer will be kept current between revisions by noting appropriate changes and new name entries published in the reports of the BGN. These reports may be found in libraries or can be ordered directly from the Executive Secretary, Domestic Geographic Names, U.S. Board on Geographic Names, 523 National Center, Reston, VA 22092.<sup>1</sup>

U.S. BOARD ON GEOGRAPHIC NAMES

The U.S. Board on Geographic Names (BGN) is a Federal body created in 1890 and established in its present form by Public Law in 1947. The purpose of the BGN is to resolve name problems and to eliminate duplication of effort by Federal agencies responsible for the production of maps and other publications that use geographic names. Composed of representatives of Federal agencies, the BGN is authorized to establish and maintain uniform geographic name usage throughout the Federal Government. Sharing its responsibilities with the Secretary of the Interior, the BGN has developed principles, policies, and procedures governing the use of both domestic and foreign geographic names, as well as names for undersea and extraterrestrial features. Although established to serve the Federal Government as a central authority to which all name problems, name inquiries, and new name proposals can be directed, the BGN plays a similar role for the general public. With respect to names used by Americans for places, features, and areas in the United States and its territories, the policy of the BGN is to recognize present-day local usage or preferences where possible. To implement this policy, close cooperation is maintained with State geographic boards, State and local governments, and the general public.

Where there is confusing duplication of local names or where a local name may be derogatory to a particular person, race, or religion, the BGN may disapprove such names and seek alternate local names for the features. In cases where local usage is conflicting or when a name is not used by many people, well-established documented names and names having historical significance are given added consideration. The BGN also has a policy of not approving new domestic geographic names that honor or may be construed to honor living persons.

Any person or organization, public or private, may make inquiries or request the BGN to render formal decisions on proposed new names, proposed name changes, or names that are in conflict. Communications concerning domestic geographic names should be addressed to the Executive Secretary, Domestic Geographic Names, U.S. Board on Geographic Names, 523 National Center, Reston, VA 22092.

U.S. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

The U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), established in 1879 as a Bureau of the Department of the Interior, is a major earth science and factfinding agency of the Federal Government. The broad and diversified USGS research programs aid in the management of the mineral, energy, land, and water resources of the United States. These programs play a vital role in furthering the Nation's welfare by providing information on the character, magnitude, location, and distribution of minerals and ores, the sources and supplies of water, and the natural Earth processes that must be understood to maintain environmental quality.

The USGS provides geographic and cartographic information, maps, and technical assistance and conducts related research responsive to national needs. Other contributions are staff support for the domestic geographic names activities of the BGN, management of the National Geographic Names Data Base and the Geographic Names Information System, and ongoing research in support of national mapping and name standardization programs.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC NAMES DATA BASE

This gazetteer is derived from the National Geographic Names Data Base, which is part of a computerized Geographic Names Information System developed by the USGS. The data base presently contains information for about two million names used throughout the United States, its territories, and outlying areas. Information within the system can be retrieved, manipulated, and arranged to meet the special needs of a wide variety of users in government, education, business, and industry, as well as those of private individuals. The system can furnish alphabetical and special listings in the form of bound reports, magnetic tapes, and microfiche. Information about available services and costs of the Geographic Names Information System may be obtained by writing to the Chief, Branch of Geographic Names, U.S. Geological Survey, 523 National Center, Reston, VA 22092.

GUIDE TO THE USE OF THE GAZETTEER

This gazetteer lists geographic names found on various maps, charts, and other published documents; the names of railroads, streets, and roads are not included. The names are listed in alphabetical order, and each is followed by seven categories of information. Except for variant name listings, each category of information is in a separate column on the gazetteer pages; the columns contain the following information, in order from left to right:

Feature Name (first column)—This column lists both the primary reference names and variant spellings, as well as variant names, for the same features, in alphabetical order. Each variant spelling and name is listed in two places in the first column—under the principal name and in its proper alphabetical order in the gazetteer with a "see" reference to the primary name. The proper names of features, places, or areas generally are composed of two parts—a specific or substantive part and a generic part. The specific part normally precedes the generic in the majority of names in the United States. In these cases, the names are listed in alphabetical order according to the specific parts of the names, letter-by-letter, from beginning to end, ignoring spaces and printing marks. In the names of physical features where the generic parts precede the specific parts, the order is arbitrarily reversed in the gazetteer to make looking up a name easier. In each case, the specific part is listed first, followed by a comma and the rest of the name:

Adams, Mount
Ann, Lake
Saint Louis, Bay Woods, Lake of the.

Definite-form names also are listed with the specific parts of the names first:

Crossing, The Mesa, La Racetrack, The.

Exceptions to the above rules occur when populated places, localities, civil divisions, or any other cultural features (city, village, county, township, crossroad, and railroad siding) are named for physical features. These names are always listed in normal order even though the generic parts of the names may precede the specific parts. A village or locality called "Mount Calvary" is listed in that order, while a physical feature having the same name is listed in reverse order, "Calvary, Mount."

Radio and television stations are listed together at the beginning of each alphabet letter according to their call letters, followed by the type of station (AM, FM, or TV) and by the names of the communities they serve.

A few names listed in the gazetteer are followed by descriptive words in parentheses. These words or phrases give special information about name usage or about the specific place or feature. This information is usually self-explanatory; for example, ruins, subdivision, shopping center, and abandoned refer to the present state of the place, and old channel, submerged, foot bridge, and siding provide further description. The descriptive word "historical" generally refers to a feature that no longer exists. The genitive apostrophe usually is not used within the body of a geographic name.

Feature Class (second column)—The terms listed in this category identify the kinds of features or places to which the names apply. The meaning of the terms is very broad so that similar kinds of landscape features can be grouped into general classes. For example, the term "stream" includes all kinds of flowing water that locally may be called a creek, run, river, branch, bayou, or fork. See page xxvii for a list of these terms and their definitions.

Status (third column)—Geographic names can be classified according to their use or official status as determined by the BGN. This category of information gives the status of each name in the gazetteer as determined by the BGN. The designators and their meanings shown in this column are as follows:

BGN (date): This designator indicates that the written form of the name and its application have been determined by the U.S. Board on Geographic Names (BGN) to be official for use throughout the Federal Government. If a year date follows the BGN designation, the name and its application were subject to special research and decision by the BGN, and the decision was published during the year shown.

US (date): A geographic name and its application listed with this designator were established by an Act of Congress, and the name is official by law. The date is the year that the law was passed.

ADMIN: The names of certain kinds of geographic entities, such as counties, parks, forests, and townships, logically fall within the administrative jurisdictions of Federal, State, and local governmental organizations. The authority for establishing these names is based on recognized organic, inherent, or constitutional rights. The names listed having this designator are official for Federal usage.

UNOFF: The BGN has not established these names as official. The names are included in the gazetteer for reference purposes.

VARIANT: This designator indicates that the name is a written variant for a place, feature, or area that has another name as its official name.

Information about the named entity and a "see" reference to the official name are given on the line below the entry. However, because this gazetteer is designed to be a reference tool, the true relation between the current and the historical name of a place is not always reflected. Historical places, such as forts, Indian villages, and small settlements, that once existed close to or within the current boundaries of a present-day populated place often are listed as separate places but also are listed as appropriate variants.

County (fourth column)—This column lists the name of the county in which the entity is located. If the place, feature, or area lies in more than one county, the county listed is the one in which the center of the feature is found, or, in the case of a stream, valley, or arroyo, the county listed is the one in which the mouth of the feature is located. Figure 1 outlines the counties of South Dakota.

Coordinates (fifth column)—Latitudes and longitudes are given for the mouths of streams and valleys; centers of bays, islands, lakes, populated places, and other areal features; the extremities of points of land; the summits of mountains and hills; and the dams of reservoirs. The first two numbers are degrees, the next two numbers, minutes, and the last two, seconds N (north) latitude. This sequence is followed by three, two, and two numbers, respectively representing degrees, minutes, and seconds W (west) longitude. Example: 354835N1104413W reads 35 degrees, 48 minutes, 35 seconds north latitude and 110 degrees, 44 minutes, 13 seconds west longitude.

Elevation (seventh column)—The specific or average elevation is given in feet above the National Geodetic Vertical Datum of 1929 (approximately sea level) for tops of peaks, mountains, ridges, and hills; the surfaces of lakes and reservoirs; the high points of passes and low points of basins; and the approximate centers of populated places.

Map Name (eighth column)—This column indicates the name of the map on which the named place or feature is located. Various cartographic limitations prevent all names from being shown on the topographic maps. South Dakota is subdivided into 1,552 7.5-minute quadrangle areas, each of which is covered by a 1:24,000-scale or 1:25,000-scale topographic map published by the USGS. When ordering topographic maps from the USGS, refer to the map name that may be found in the next section U.S. Geological Survey 7.5-Minute Topographic Maps of South Dakota. (Several names of USGS maps have been abbreviated because of limitations of space. Both the full name and its abbreviation appear in the topographic maps list.)

State indexes to topographic maps are available from:

USGS Map Sales
Box 25286
Denver, CO 80225
(303) 236-7477

Some names appear only on U.S. Forest Service maps. Even though the names are not labeled on USGS maps, they are referenced to the 1:24,000-scale topographic map on which the named place or feature is located. The U.S. Forest Service administrative areas in South Dakota are the Black Hills National Forest, Custer National Forest, Buffalo Gap National Grasslands, Cedar River National Grasslands, and Grand River National Grasslands. ## SOUTH DAKOTA

By Jon C. Campbell

South Dakota became the 40th State of the Union on November 2, 1889. The State derives its name from the prior political division, Dakota Territory, that in turn was named for the Dakota or Sioux Indians. "Dakota," usually translated as "allies," is the name that the Sioux people speaking the Santee dialect apply to themselves. Dakota County, Minnesota, established in 1849, and the Dakota Land Company, organized in 1857, provided precedents for the use of the word "Dakota" in a legal name before the Dakota Territory was created in 1861. The renowned American explorers Lewis and Clark were very likely the first to write the word, or recognizable variants of the name Dakota, spelling it Dacorta, Darcota, and Darcotar in their journals.

Pierre has been the State capital since 1889. Although founded in 1878 under the name of "Mato," which is said to mean "bear" in the Dakota language, the city was soon named Pierre after an older settlement, Fort Pierre, located just across the Missouri River. The nearby military post of Fort Pierre was named for Pierre Choteau, Jr., of the American Fur Company, which built the fort. Early in the history of the State, the towns of Huron and Mitchell separately contested the designation of Pierre as the State capital, but Pierre retained this distinction. Huron, settled in 1880, was named by Marvin Hughitt, a railroad official, for the Huron Indians. Settled in 1879, the town of Mitchell was named for Alexander Mitchell, who was then president of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Railroad.

The earliest South Dakotans, of whom written records are preserved, are the Arikara, or Ree, Indians. As early as the 16th century these Indians lived along the banks of the Missouri River in villages, which were based on an agricultural and fishing economy. In the 1790's the Rees, under pressure from the Sioux Indians who had been driven from the upper Mississippi Valley by the Chippewa, left the region and retreated up the Missouri to lands north of the Grand River. The word Sioux is a shortening of "Nadowessiou," one of several spellings of a French version of the Chippewa name for the Sioux that is thought to have meant "an adder" or, metaphorically, "an enemy." Reportedly, the Grand River was known by the Sioux in their language as the "Creek of the Rees." Lewis and Clark recorded the name of the stream as Riviere au Corn and as Marapa River. The present name has evidently endured from the earliest French explorations.

The brothers Francois and Louis-Joseph La Verendrye are the first men of European descent known to have traveled in South Dakota. In 1743, while following the Missouri River, they buried an inscribed lead plate and claimed the land for the King of France. Schoolchildren, playing on a hill that overlooks the Missouri in Stanley County, found the plate in 1913. Fittingly, the place is now known as Verendrye Hill.

The United States gained ownership from France of the land where the Dakota dwelt by the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. In the years before the Civil War, the prime attraction of this area to fur traders, who operated between the Rocky Mountains and Saint Louis, was its location on the Missouri River. The fur merchants secured and settled strategic places along the river and named them forts, even though they were often nothing more than trading posts. One such place was Fort Pierre, established in 1832 and located at the junction of the Bad River and the Missouri River. Two older forts predate Fort Pierre at the site—Fort Teton, built in 1817 and named for the Teton tribe of the Sioux, and Fort Tecumseh, established about 1822 and named for the noted Shawnee chief who assisted the British during the War of 1812. The Bad River received its name from an incident believed to have occurred about 1738 in which a flash flood drowned many Indians and their ponies. Afterwards the river was referred to as "bad" in the Sioux language, and the English translation was later adopted by settlers. Lewis and Clark called it the Teton River because they encountered a band of Teton Sioux Indians there, but that name did not persist.

On March 2, 1861, President Buchanan signed a bill that created the Dakota Territory. The Territory consisted of the present States of North and South Dakota and the portions of Montana and Wyoming east of the crest of the Rocky Mountains. Concentrated in present southeastern South Dakota, the white population of this vast area was then only 2,396. Yankton, the first capital of the Dakota Territory, was founded in 1858 and named for the Yankton tribe of the Sioux who formerly occupied the town site. When the Territories of Idaho and Wyoming were created in 1863 and 1868, respectively, the size of the Dakota Territory was reduced to the current area of North and South Dakota.

The discovery of gold in the Black Hills in 1874 by a military expedition led by General George A. Custer precipitated a period of great interest in the area and brought settlers to the western part of the territory. The western region was previously closed to white people by the 1868 Treaty of Fort Laramie. In 1877, the year after the Battle of Little Big Horn, also known as Custer's Last Stand, the Indians were forced to accept a reduction in the size of their reservation and to cede the Black Hills to the U.S. Government. The Battle of Wounded Knee, December 29, 1890, during which more than 200 Indian men, women, and children were killed, marked the last major clash of Native Americans with United States troops. Wounded Knee Creek, located in southwestern South Dakota, southeast of the Black Hills, is an English translation of the Sioux name for this stream. According to Indian tradition, at some point along the creek, an Oglala Sioux was wounded in the knee by a Crow Indian arrow. Thereafter, both the warrior and the creek were known as "Wounded Knee." A second account of the origin of this name tells of an Indian man and his wife who lived along the creek. During a quarrel, the woman became so angry that she shot her husband in the knee and he fell to the ground near the creek. The name Black Hills is a direct translation of the Sioux name "Paha Sapa," which the Indians used because the dense growth of pine trees covering the hills makes them appear black when viewed from a distance. Lewis and Clark referred to the hills as the "Black Mountains." Commemorating the role of the former Union general in the history of the region, Custer is now the name of a Black Hills town, but ironically the first name of this town was Stonewall, honoring Confederate General Stonewall Jackson.

In the 1888 national election, the Republican Party favored the admission of two States that would be formed from the Dakota Territory. The Republicans prevailed, and on November 2, 1889, President Benjamin Harrison issued proclamations admitting both North and South Dakota to the Union as "Sister States." The President purposely shuffled the admission documents so that neither State could claim priority over the other, but, by common agreement reached in later years, North Dakota ranks as the 39th State of the Union and South Dakota ranks as the 40th.

During the early years of the statehood movement, people from both the northern and southern sections of the Dakota Territory had wanted to use the name Dakota exclusively. Many residents of southern Dakota Territory believed that northern Dakota Territory should take the name Pembina. Before Dakota Territory was organized, a large part of the northern section had been known for a hundred years as "The Pembina Country," "pembina" being the Chippewa name for the highbush cranberry found in the northern Red River Valley. However, when it appeared that the adoption of any other name might delay the more important matter of statehood, southern Dakotans expeditiously approved the name South Dakota. Some other Indian names suggested for South Dakota during the State name dispute were "Minisese Wakpa," Missouri River; "Tinta-Maka," Prairie Land; "Mazatinta," Land of the Prairie; "Maya-Wakan," God's Country; "Magatanka," Big Country; and "Wacatinta," Prairie Flower.

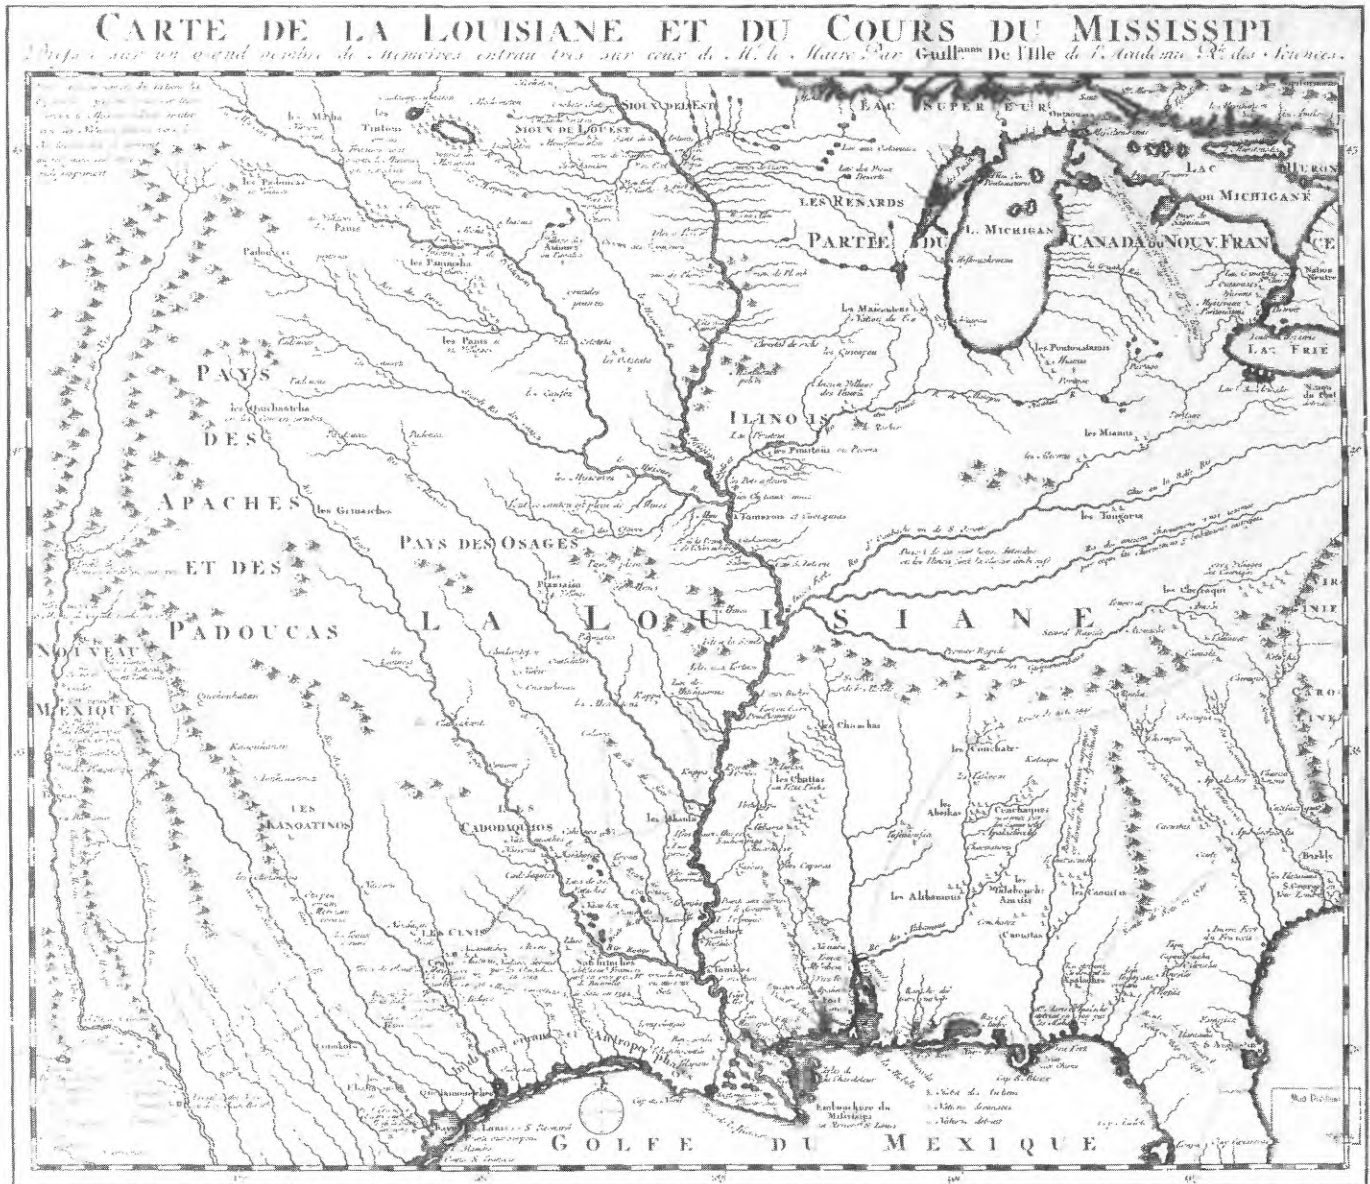

FIGURE 2.—Carte de la Louisiane et du cours du Mississipi [Map of Louisiana and the course of the Mississippi] (Guillaume Delisle, 1718). Delisle's map was the first to portray the Missouri River with accuracy. It influenced the cartography of the Missouri Valley throughout the eighteenth century. The northwest quadrant depicts the area that is presently South Dakota. Here Delisle shows the current name of the Missouri River as well as a variant name, "R. de Pekitanoni." This earlier alternate name is thought to stem from an Algonquian term that means muddy or turbid, while the name "Missouri," first recorded on a 1673 French map, is believed to be an Algonquian name for a Siouan tribe that lived at the mouth of the river.

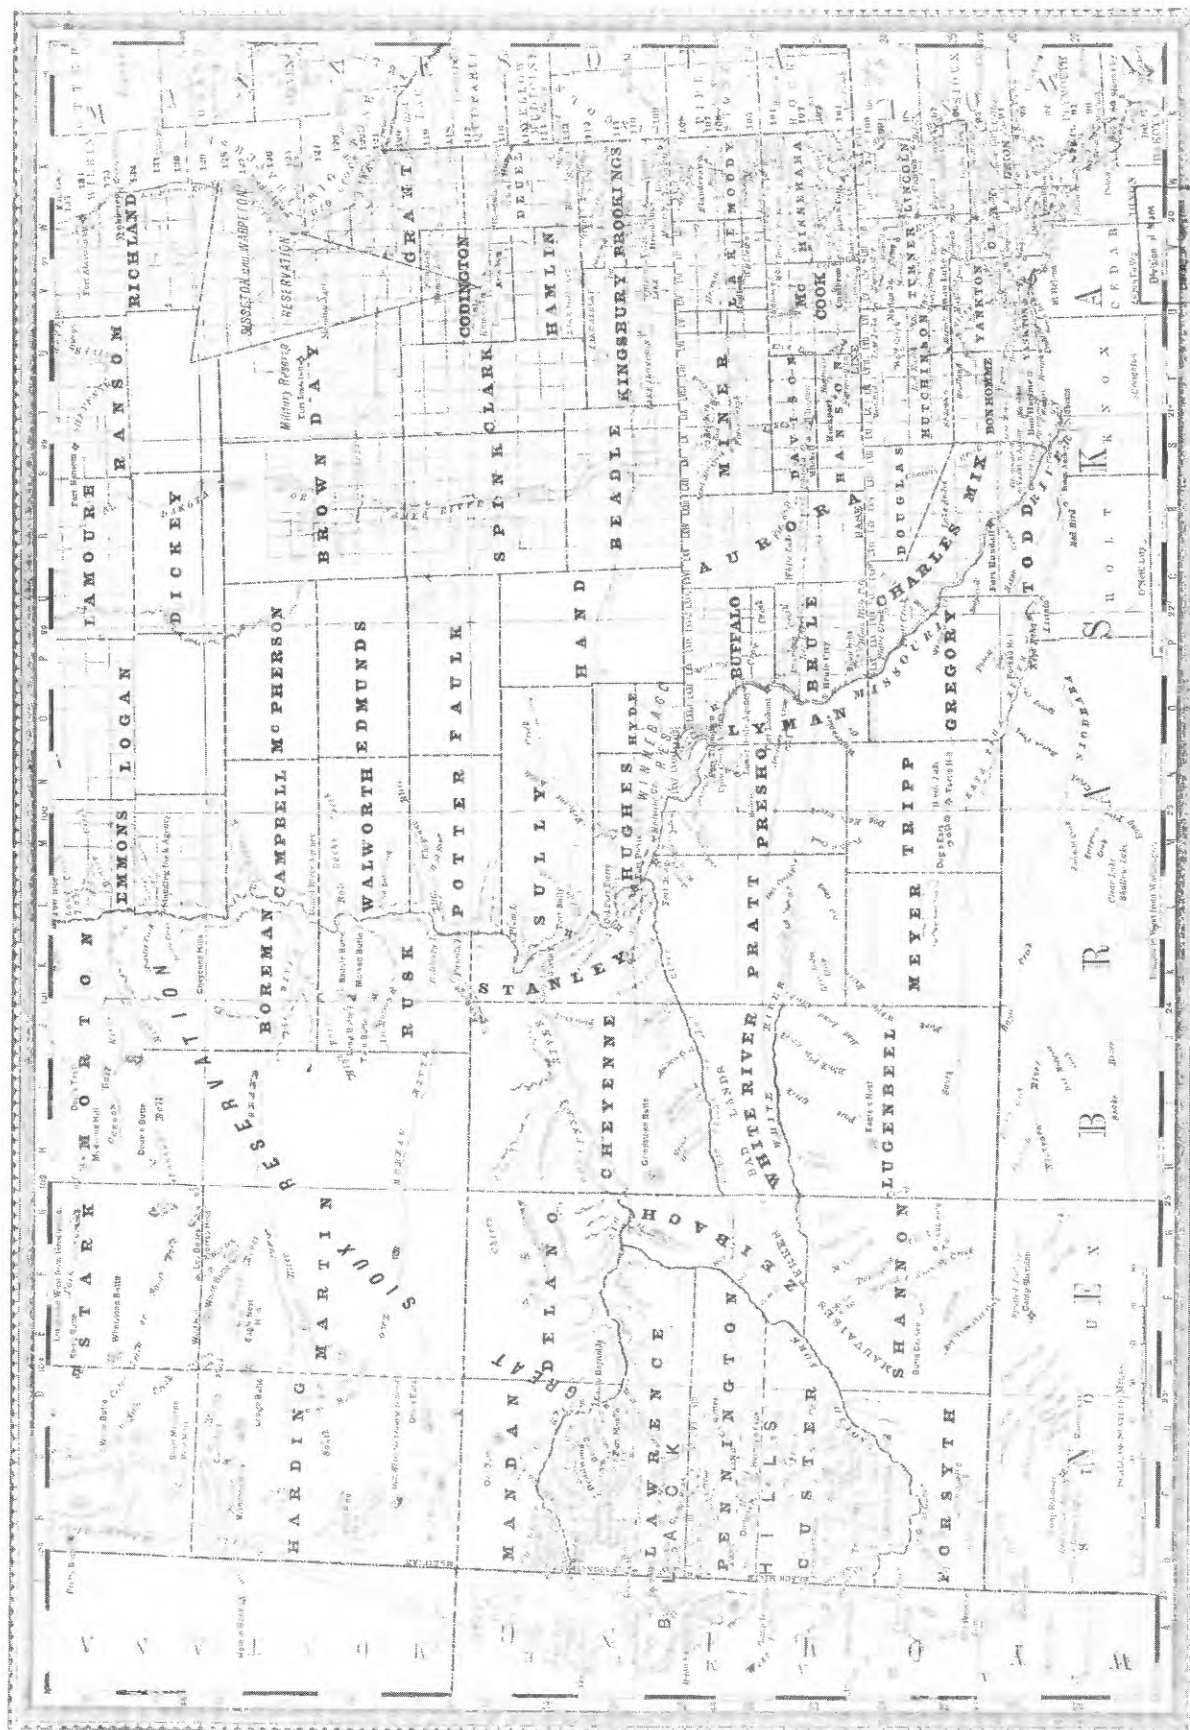

FIGURE 5.—Dakota (southern half) (Rand, McNally and Company's indexed atlas of the world, 1883). Published 6 years before statehood, this map of southern Dakota Territory shows increased development. The density of place names is greatest in the Black Hills, where gold attracted miners, and in the southeast, where public land survey lines have been drawn. ## GLOSSARY

By Roger L. Payne

The following is a glossary of common language terms used to categorize each place, feature, or area identified by a geographic name. The terms assigned to each entry form the second column, Feature Class, on the gazetteer page. The terms and their definitions should be considered only as a general guide and not as a dictionary of balanced, exclusive, or precise terminology for the identification of cultural and natural features. Commonly used generic terms are listed at the end of each definition to assist in understanding the range of meaning represented by the feature class. A geographic name in plural form is identified by a term in singular form; "Relic Islands" is identified as "island." The term "populated place" is abbreviated "ppl."

airport: a manmade facility maintained for the use of aircraft (airfield, airstrip, landing field, landing strip).
arch: a natural archlike opening in a rock mass (bridge, natural bridge, sea arch).
area: any one of several areally extensive natural features not included in other categories (badlands, barren, delta, fan, garden).
arroyo: a watercourse or channel through which water may occasionally flow (coulee, draw, gulley, wash).
bar: a natural accumulation of sand, gravel, or alluvium or a ledge of rock or coral forming an underwater or exposed embankment (ledge, reef, sandbar, shoal, spit).
basin: a natural depression or relatively low area enclosed by higher land (amphitheater, cirque, pit, sink).
bay: an indentation of a coast or shoreline enclosing a part of a body of water; a body of water partly surrounded by land (arm, bight, cove, estuary, gulf, inlet, sound).
beach: the sloping shore along a body of water that is periodically washed by waves or tides and is usually covered by sand or gravel (coast, shore, strand).
bench: an area of relatively level land on the side of an elevation, such as a hill, ridge, or mountain, where the slope of the land rises on one side and descends on the opposite side (level).
bend: a curve in the course of a stream and (or) the land within the curve; a curve in a linear body of water (loop, meander).
bridge: a manmade structure carrying a trail, road, or other transportation system across a body of water or depression (causeway, overpass, trestle).
building: a manmade structure having walls and a roof for protection of people and (or) materials; churches, hospitals, and schools are special types of buildings and are assigned individual categories.

canal: a manmade waterway used by watercraft or for drainage, irrigation, mining, or water power (ditch, lateral).
cape: a projection of land extending into a body of water (lae, neck, peninsula, point).
cave: a natural underground passageway or chamber or a hollowed out cavity in the side of a cliff (cavern, grotto).
cemetery: a place or area for burying the dead (burial, burying ground, grave, memorial garden).
channel: a linear deep part of a body of water through which the main volume of water flows and that is frequently used as a route for watercraft (passage, reach, strait, thoroughfare, throughfare).
church: a building used for religious worship (chapel, mosque, synagogue, tabernacle, temple).
civil: designates a political division formed for administrative purposes (borough, county, town, township).
cliff: a very steep or vertical slope (bluff, crag, head, headland, nose, overhang, pali, palisade, precipice, promontory, rim, rimrock).
crater: a circular depression at the summit of a volcanic cone or one on the surface of the land caused by either volcanism, meteoritic impact, or underground subsidence; a manmade depression caused by an explosion (caldera, lua).
crossing: a place where two or more routes of transportation form a junction or intersection (overpass, underpass).
dam: a water barrier or embankment built across the course of a stream or into or within a body of water to control and (or) impound the flow of water (breakwater, dike, jetty).
falls: a perpendicular or very steep descent of water in the course of a stream (cascade, cataract, waterfall).
flat: a relatively level area within a region of greater relief (clearing, glade, playa).
forest: a bounded area of woods, forest, or grassland under the administration of a political agency (national forest, national grasslands, State forest); see "woods."
gap: a low point or opening between hills or mountains or in a ridge or mountain range (col, notch, pass, saddle, water gap, wind gap).
geyser: an eruptive spring from which hot water, steam, and (or) mud are periodically thrown.
glacier: a body or stream of ice moving outward and downslope from an area of accumulation; an area of relatively permanent snow or ice on the top of or side of a mountain (ice field, ice patch, snow patch).

gut: a relatively small coastal waterway connecting larger bodies of water or other waterways (creek, inlet, slough).

harbor: a sheltered area of water where ships or other watercraft can anchor or dock (hono, port, road, roadstead).

hospital: a building where the sick or injured may receive medical or surgical attention (infirmary).

island: an area of dry or relatively dry land surrounded by water or low wetland (archipelago, atoll, cay, hammock, hummock, isla, isle, key, moku, rock).

isthmus: a narrow projection of land in a body of water connecting two larger land areas.

lake: a natural body of inland water (backwater, lac, lagoon, laguna, pond, pool, resaca, waterhole).

lava: a formation or feature resulting from the consolidation of molten rock on the surface of the Earth (kipuka, lava flow).

levee: a natural or manmade embankment flanking a stream (bank, berm).

locale: a place at which there is or was relatively minor human occupation or activity; does not include populated places (ppl), mines, and dams (battlefield, camp, farm, railroad siding, ranch, ruins, site, station, windmill).

mine: a place or area from which commercial minerals are or were removed from the Earth; does not include oilfield (pit, quarry, shaft).

oilfield: an area where petroleum is or was removed from the Earth.

other: this category is for miscellaneous named man-made entities that cannot readily be placed in the other feature classes listed here.

park: a place or area set aside for recreation or preservation of a cultural or natural resource and under some form of governmental administration; does not include a forest (national historical landmark, national park, State park, wilderness).

pillar: a vertical-standing, often spire-shaped, natural rock formation (chimney, monument, pinnacle, pohaku, rock tower).

ppl: populated place: a place or area having clustered or scattered buildings and a permanent human population (city, settlement, town, village).

range: a chain of hills or mountains; a somewhat linear mountainous or hilly area (cordillera, sierra).

rapids: a fast-flowing section of a stream, often shallower than other sections and having exposed rocks or boulders (riffle, ripple).

reserve: a tract of land set aside for a specific use; does not include forests, civil divisions, or parks.

reservoir: an artificially impounded body of water (lake, tank).

ridge: an elevation having a narrow, linear crest; may be part of a hill or mountain (crest, cuesta, escarpment, hogback, lae, rim, spur).

school: a building or group of buildings used as an institution for study, teaching, and learning (academy, college, high school, university).

sea: a large body of salt water (gulf, ocean).

slope: a gently inclined part of the Earth's surface (grade, pitch).

spring: a place where underground water flows naturally to the surface of the Earth (seep).

stream: a linear body of water flowing on the Earth's surface (anabranch, awawa, bayou, branch, brook, creek, distributary, fork, kill, pup, rio, river, run, slough).

swamp: poorly drained wetland, fresh or salt, wooded or grassy; possibly covered with open water (bog, cienaga, marais, marsh, pocosin).

tower: a manmade structure, higher than its diameter, generally used for observation, storage, or electronic transmission.

trail: a route for passage from one point to another; does not include roads or highways, categories of entities presently not included in this gazetteer (jeep trail, path, ski trail).

tunnel: a linear underground passageway open at both ends.

valley: a linear depression in the Earth's surface that generally slopes from one end to the other (baranca, canyon, chasm, cove, draw, glen, gorge, gulch, gulf, hollow, ravine).

well: a manmade shaft or hole in the Earth's surface used to obtain fluid or gaseous materials.

woods: a small area covered with a dense growth of trees; does not include an area of trees under the administration of a political agency; see "forest."
