

Figure 9. Maximum dissolved-solids concentrations observed in the United States and selected U.S. territories. A, depths less than (<) depths 50 feet below land surface; B, depths 50 to <500 feet below land surface; C, depths 500 to <1,500 feet below land surface; and D, depths 1,500 to 3,000 feet below land surface.

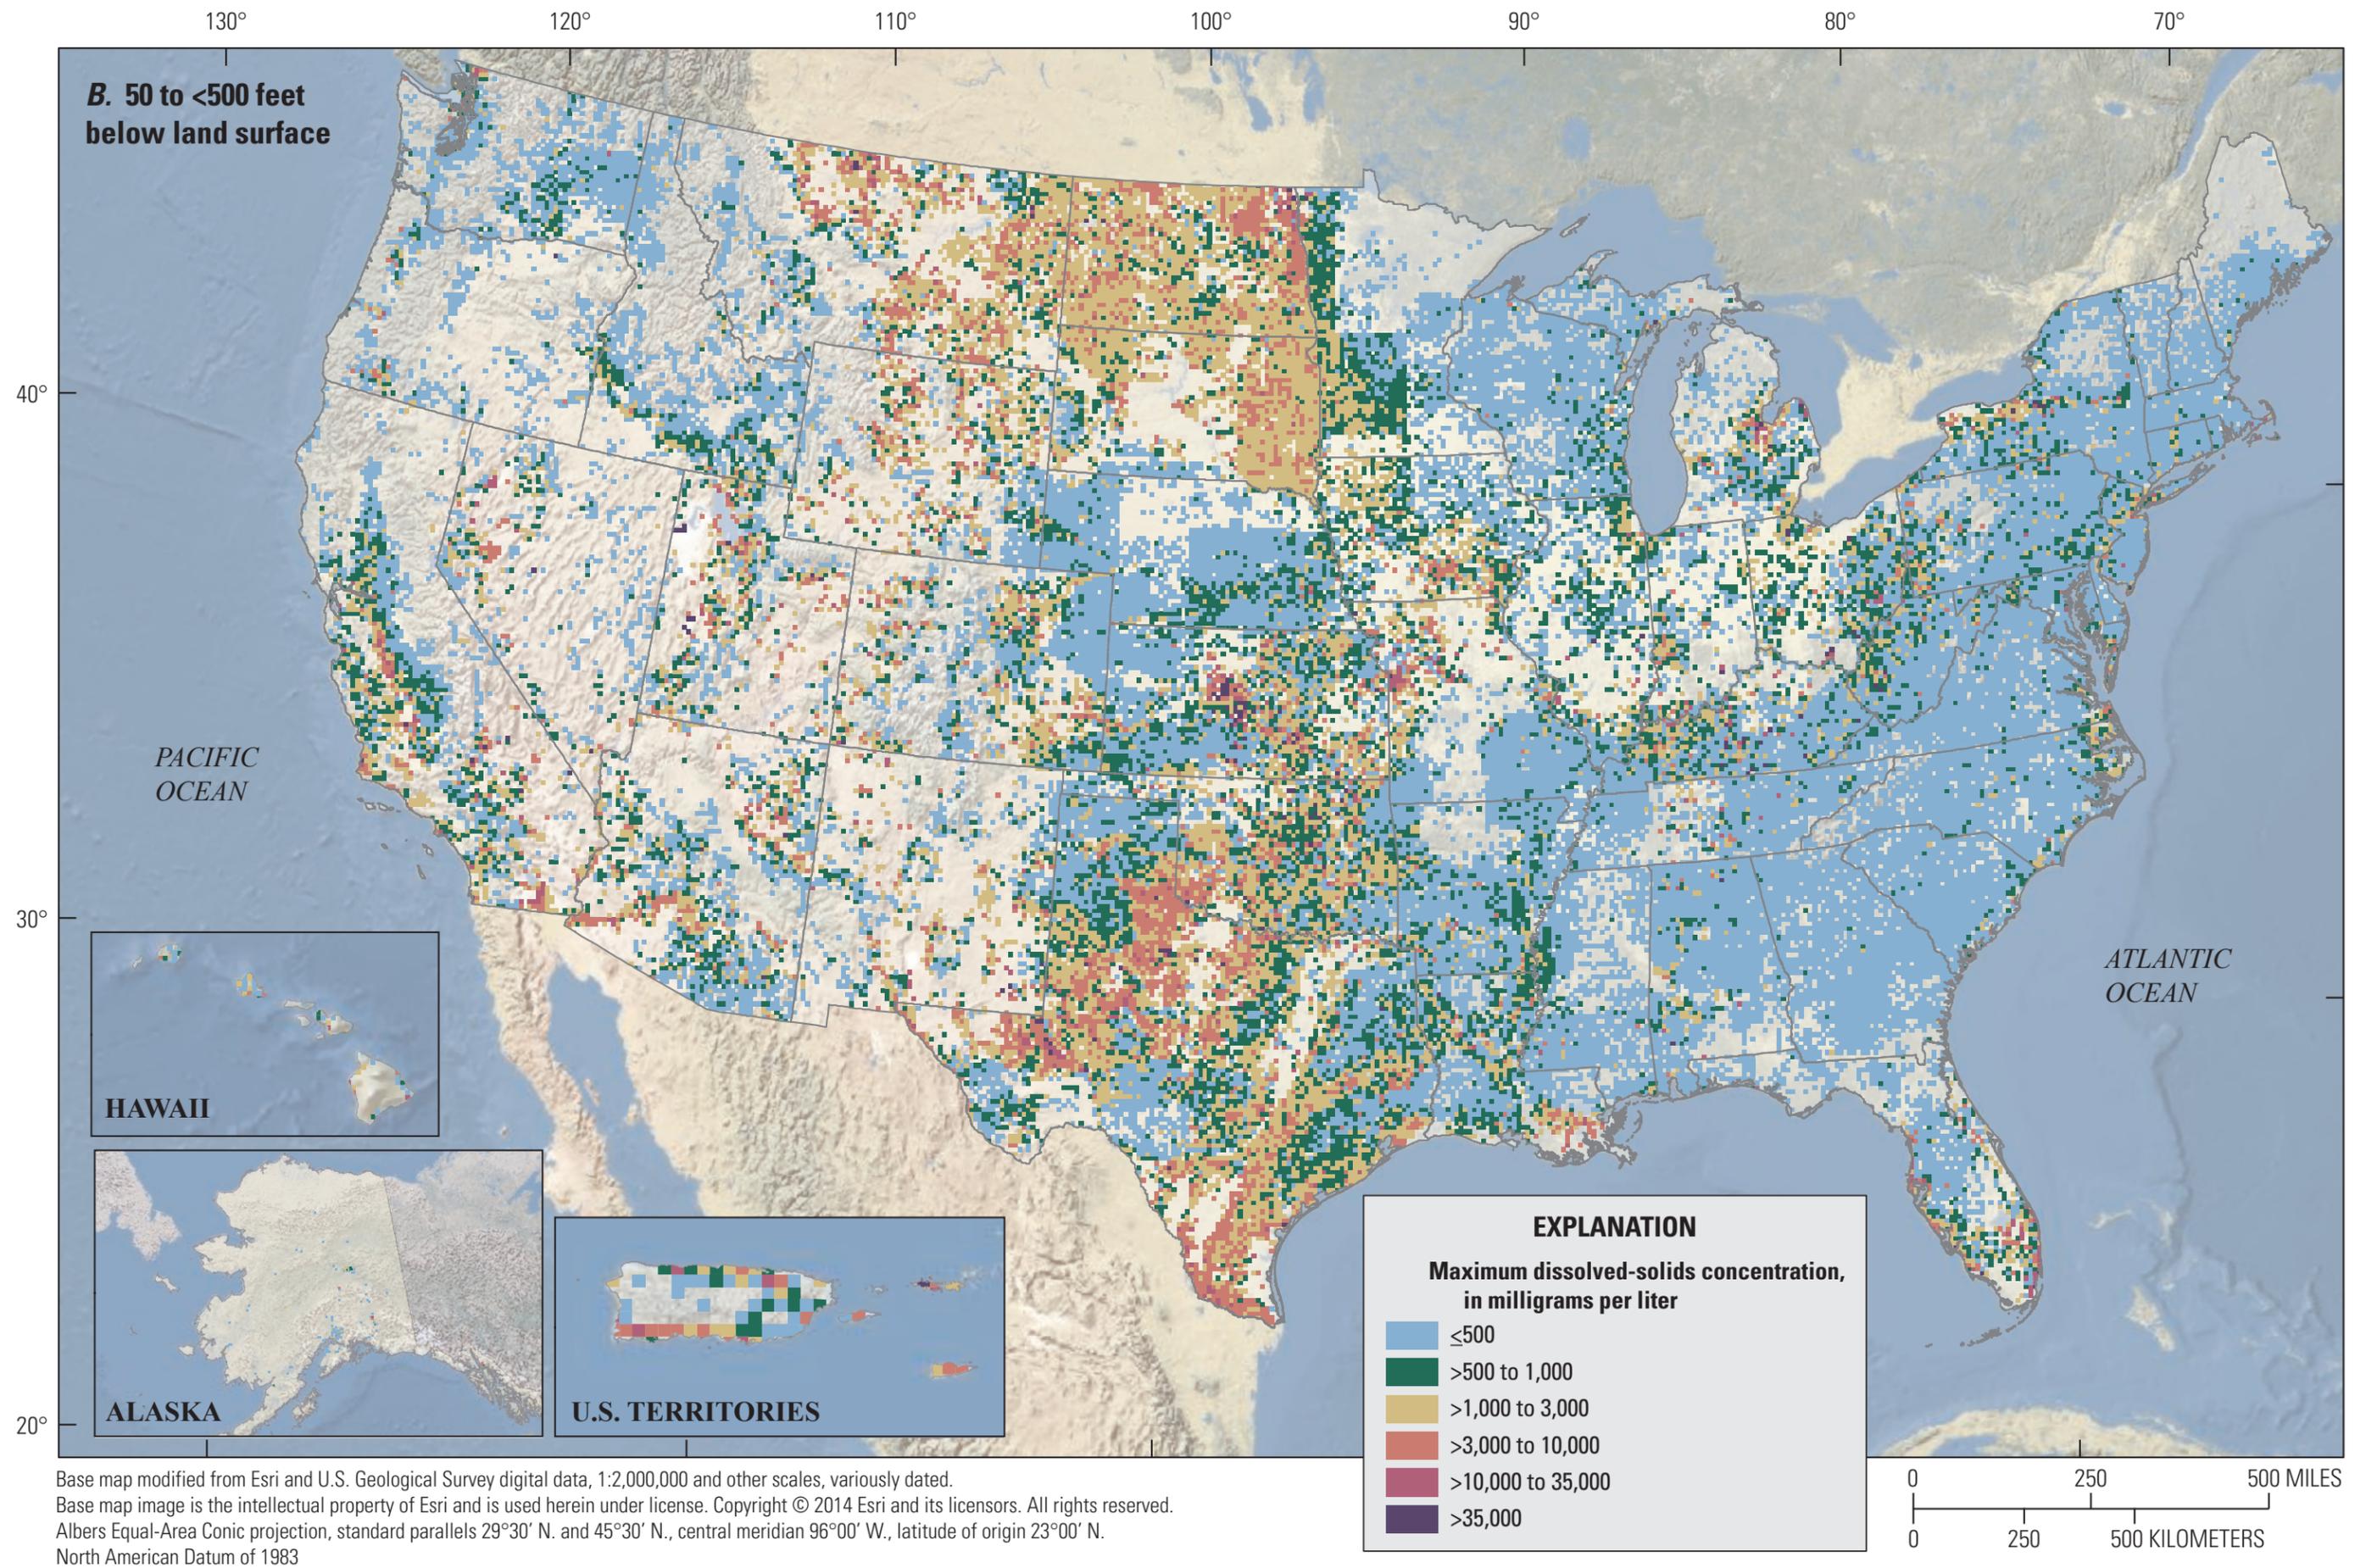

Figure 9. Maximum dissolved-solids concentrations observed in the United States and selected U.S. territories. A, depths less than (<) depths 50 feet below land surface; B, depths 50 to <500 feet below land surface; C, depths 500 to <1,500 feet below land surface; and D, depths 1,500 to 3,000 feet below land surface.—Continued

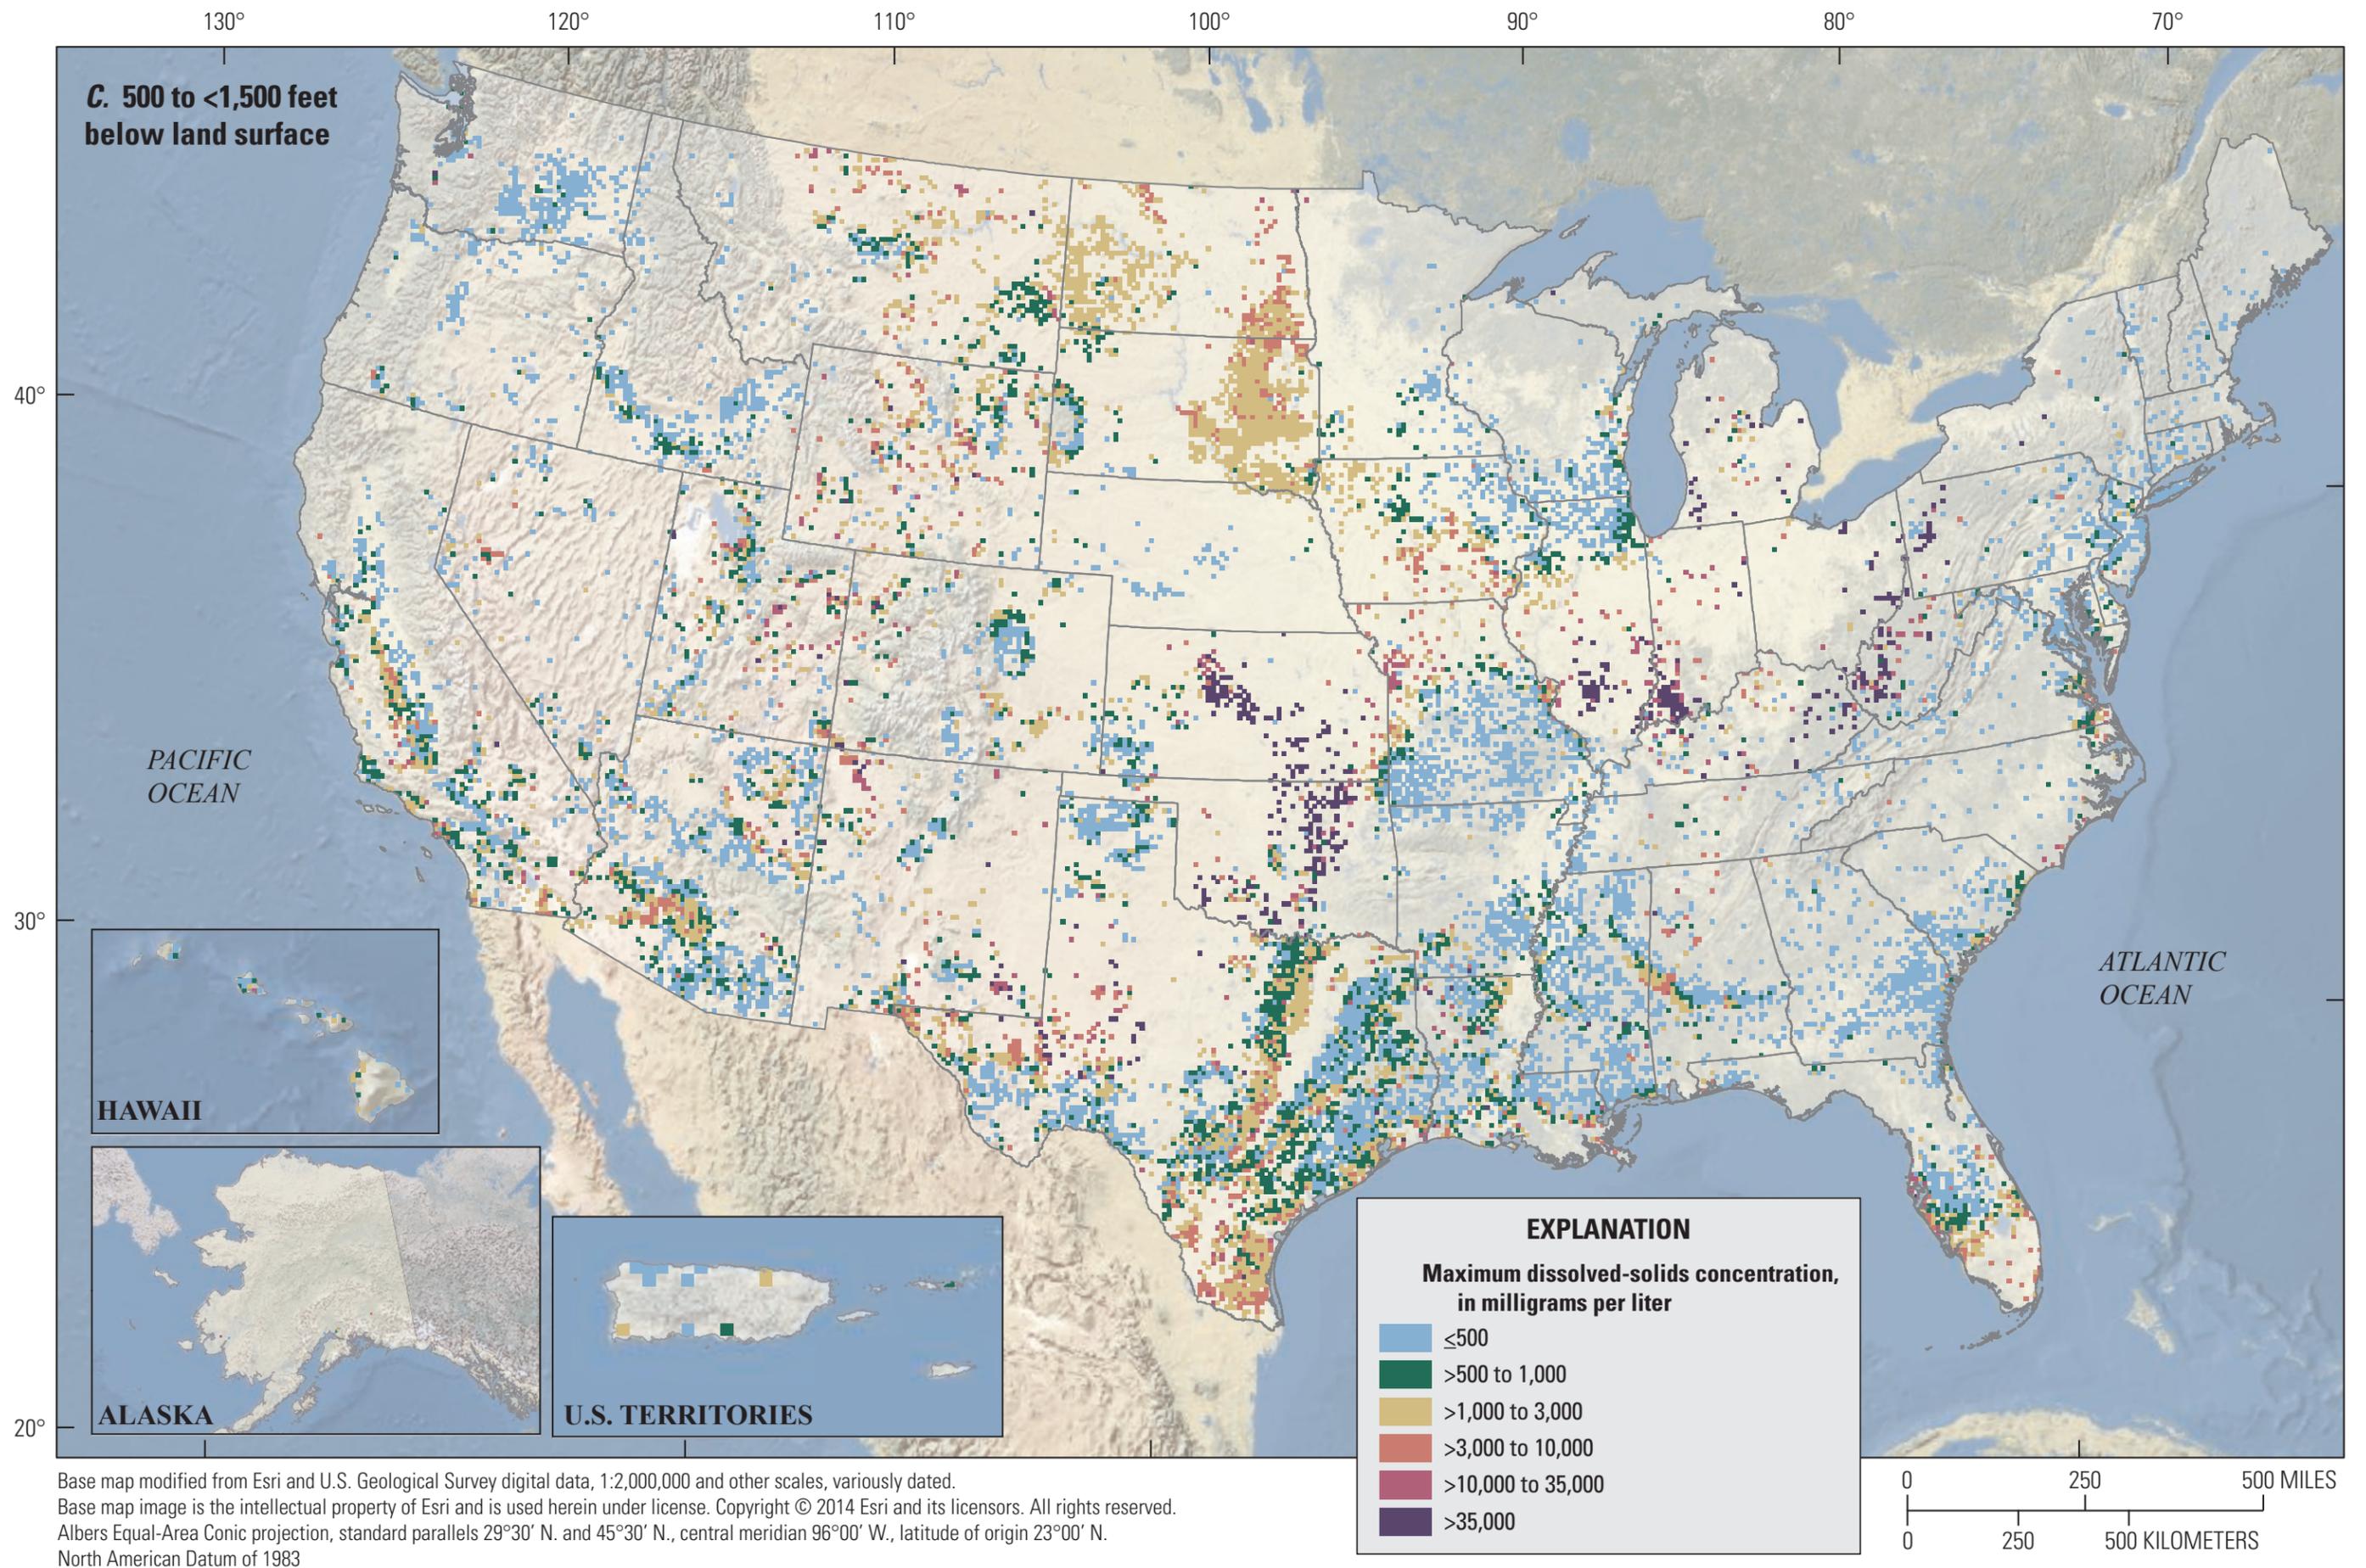

Figure 9. Maximum dissolved-solids concentrations observed in the United States and selected U.S. territories. A, depths less than (<) depths 50 feet below land surface; B, depths 50 to <500 feet below land surface; C, depths 500 to <1,500 feet below land surface; and D, depths 1,500 to 3,000 feet below land surface.—Continued

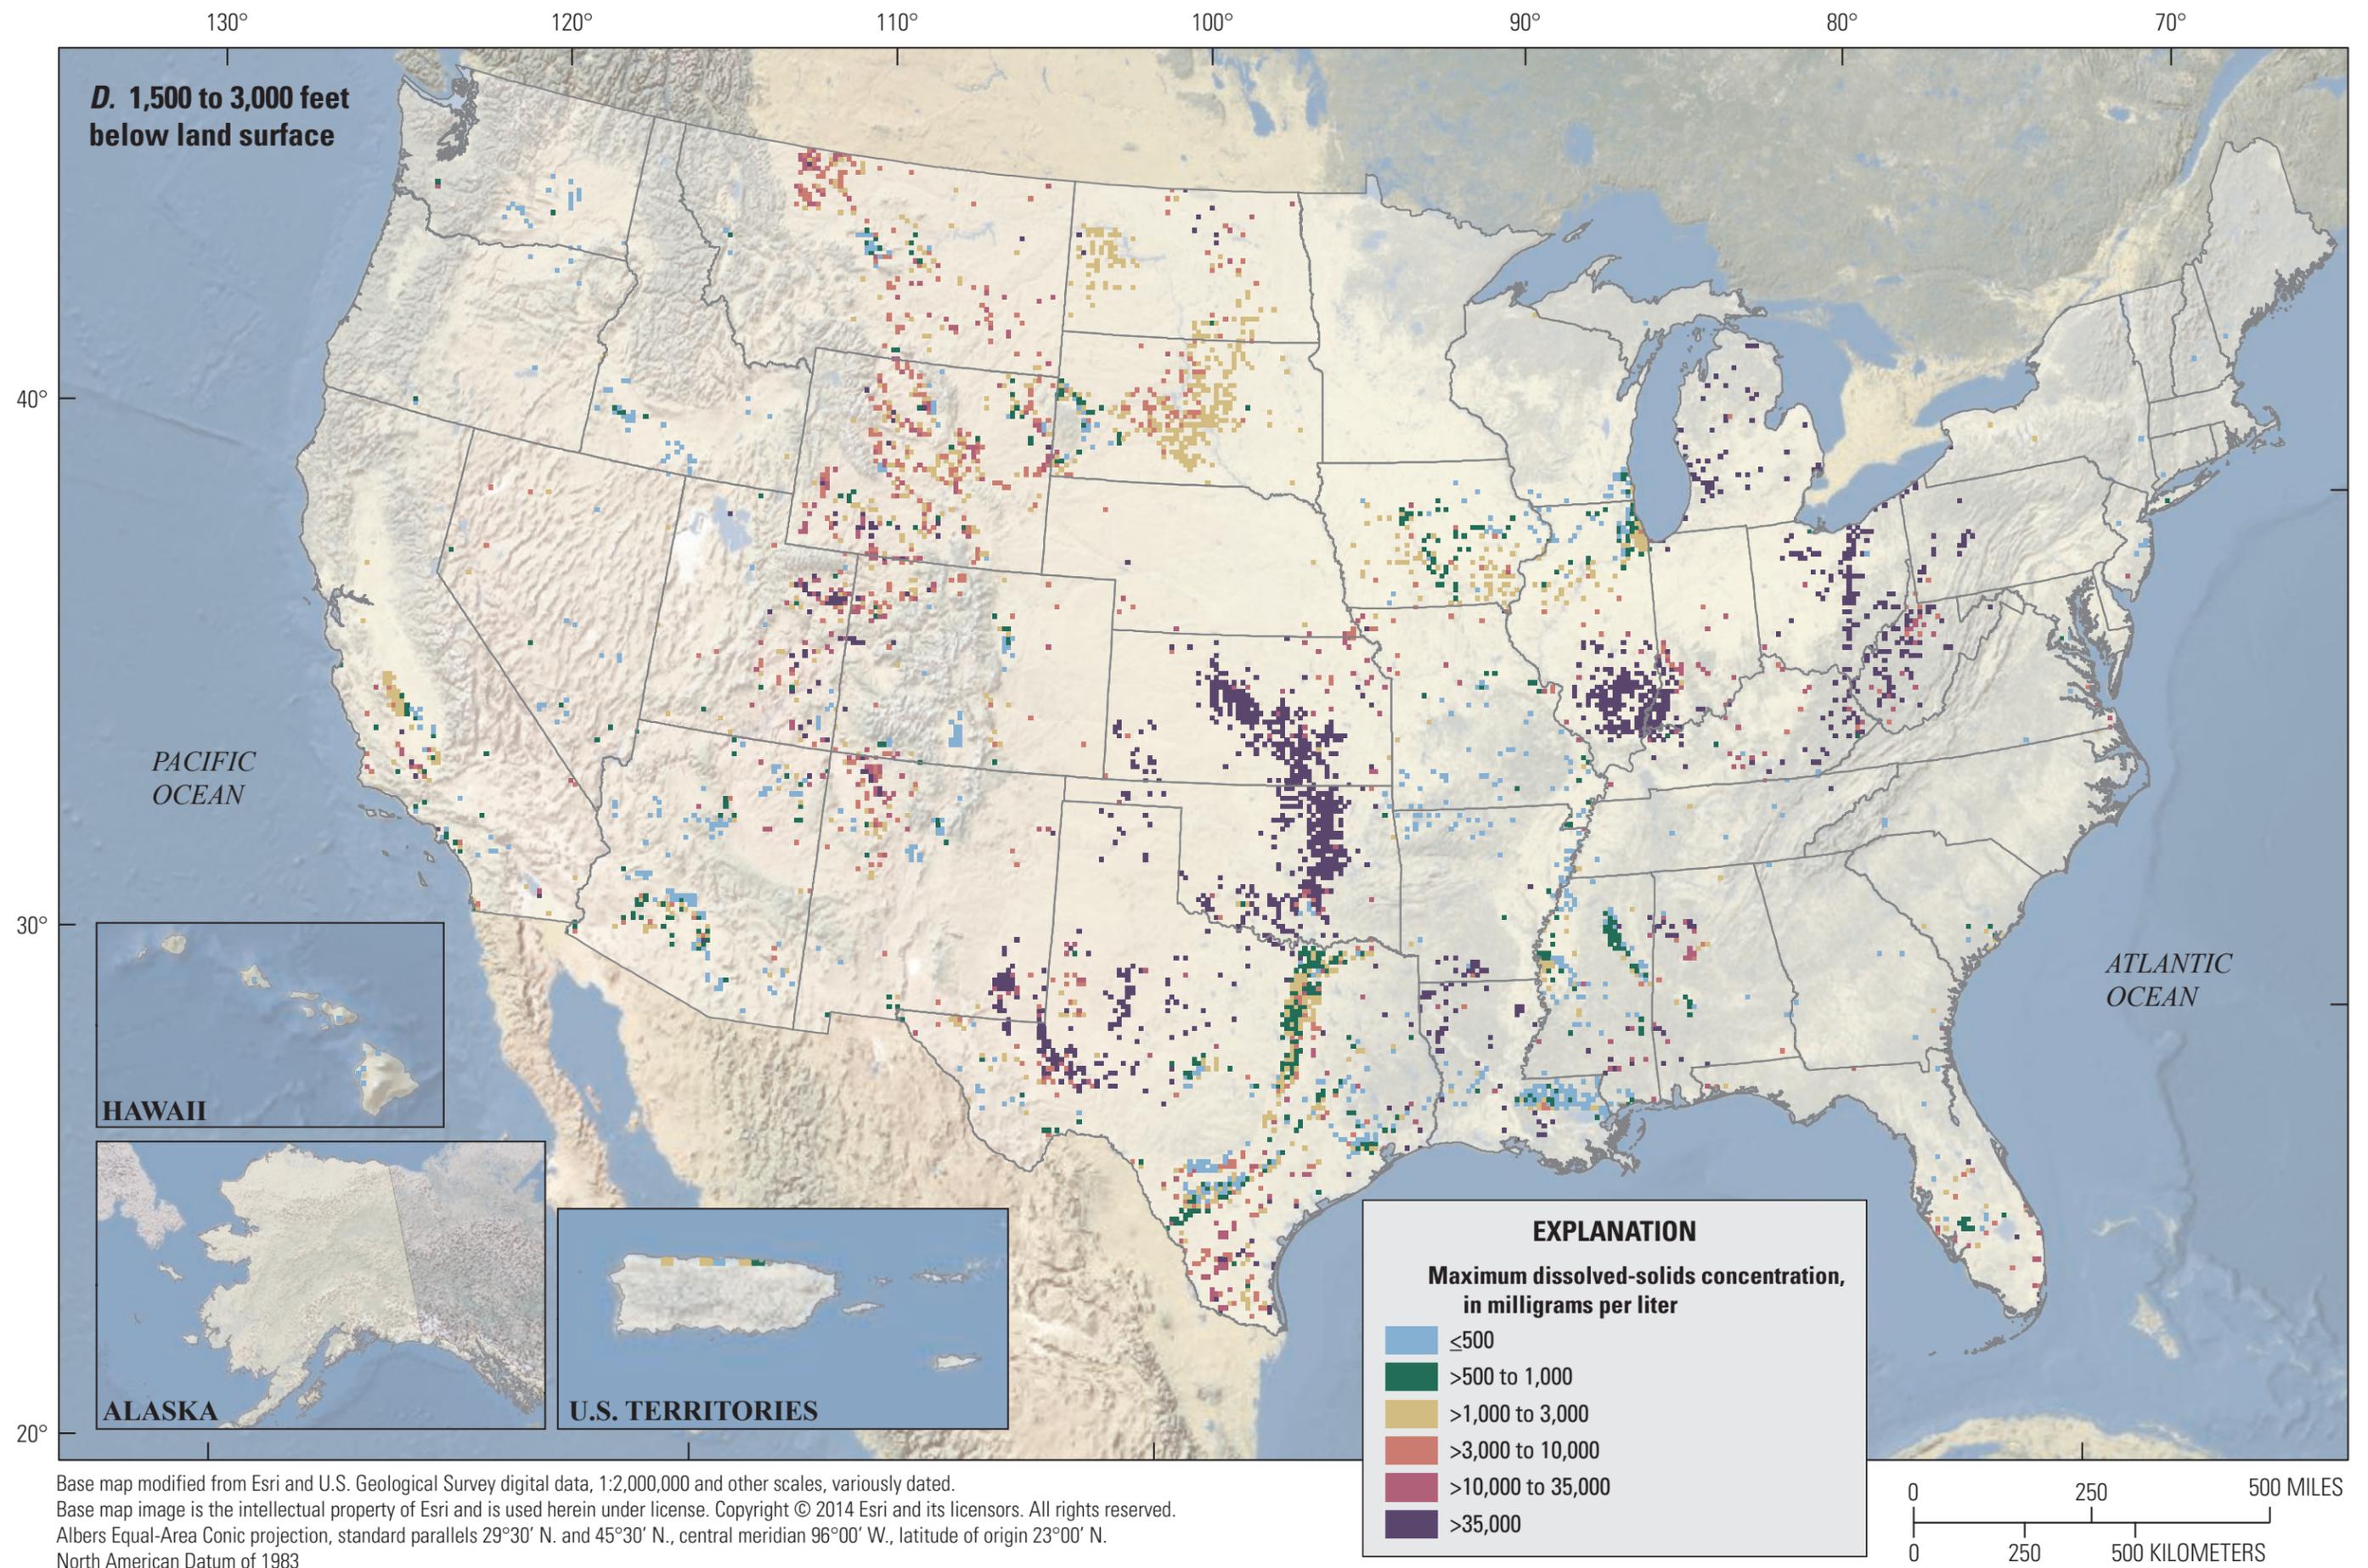

Figure 9. Maximum dissolved-solids concentrations observed in the United States and selected U.S. territories. A, depths less than (<) depths 50 feet below land surface; B, depths 50 to <500 feet below land surface; C, depths 500 to <1,500 feet below land surface; and D, depths 1,500 to 3,000 feet below land surface.—Continued