We located the trench just west of Santa Rosa Peak, the highest point in the footwall of the fault zone, in hopes of investigating the Quaternary faults along several recently established geodetic transects in the northern Basin and Range. The colluvial deposits exposed in the trench range in age from about 6 ka to about 140 ka.