

- 1) Sediment-laden peak discharge in excess of 200,000 cubic feet per second passing over the Carraízo Dam at 2 p.m. on September 10, 1996, after the passage of Hurricane Hortense. Photograph by Matthew Larsen, USGS.
- 2) Water reaching bridge beam during floods of May 1985, Río Gurabo, Gurabo, Puerto Rico, near USGS station 50057000. Photograph by Senén Guzmán-Ríos, USGS.
- 3) Flooded residential area in Parcelas Juan Sánchez, Bayamón, Puerto Rico (photograph provided by the Municipio of Bayamón).